1. EQUALITY MISSION STATEMENT

At Rush Green Primary School, we are committed to ensuring equality of education and opportunity for all pupils, staff, parents and carers receiving services from the school, irrespective of sex, race, disability, religion or belief, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, pregnancy, maternity or socio-economic background. We aim to develop a culture of inclusion and diversity in which all those connected to the school feel proud of their identity and able to participate fully in school life.

The achievement of pupils will be monitored by race, gender and disability and we will use this data to support pupils, raise standards and ensure inclusive teaching. We will tackle discrimination by the positive promotion of equality, challenging bullying and stereotypes and creating an environment which champions respect for all. At Rush Green Primary School, we believe that diversity is a strength, which should be respected and celebrated by all those who learn, teach and visit here.

At Rush Green School we monitor the school's physical environment to ensure full access for all staff, pupils and parents regardless of their education, physical, sensory, social, spiritual, emotional and cultural needs.

2. MAINSTREAMING EQUALITY INTO POLICY AND PRACTICE

As well as the specific actions set out beneath this plan, the school operates equality of opportunity in its day to day practice in the following ways.

- a. Teaching and learning

We aim to provide all our pupils with the opportunity of succeed, and to reach the highest level of personal achievement. To do this, we will:-

- Use contextual data to improve the ways in which we provide support to individuals and groups of pupils;
- Monitor achievement data by ethnicity, gender and disability and action any gaps;
- Take account of the achievement of all pupils when planning for future learning and setting challenging targets;
- Ensure equality of access for all pupils and prepare them for life in a diverse society;
- Use teaching materials that reflect the diversity of the school, population and local community in terms of race, gender and disability, without stereotyping;
- Promote attitudes and values that challenge all discriminatory behaviour or prejudice;
- Provide opportunities for pupils to appreciate their own culture and celebrate the diversity of other cultures;
- Seek to involve all parents/carers in supporting their child's education;
- Encourage classroom and staffroom discussion of equality issues which reflect on social stereotypes, expectations and the impact of learning;
- Include teaching and classroom-based approaches appropriate for the whole school population, which are inclusive and which reflect and represent all of our pupils.

b. Admissions and exclusions

Our school admissions arrangements are fair and transparent, and do not discriminate on sex, race, disability, religion or belief, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, pregnancy, maternity or socioeconomic factors.

Any exclusions will always be based on the school's Behaviour Policy. We will closely monitor exclusions to avoid any potential adverse impact on any particular group and ensure any discrepancies between specific groups are identified and dealt with.

3. EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES FOR STAFF

This section deals with aspects of equal opportunities relating to Rush Green Primary School.

We are actively committed to the implementation, promotion and monitoring of equal opportunities principles in all aspects of staffing and employment.

All staff appointments and promotions are made on the basis of merit and ability and in compliance with the law. However, we are concerned to ensure wherever possible that the staffing of the school reflects the diversity of our community.

Employer duties

As an employer we aim to ensure that we eliminate discrimination and harassment in our employment practice and actively promote equality across all groups within our workforce.

Equality aspects are considered when appointing staff and particularly when allocating Teaching and Learning Responsibilities (TLR) or re-evaluating staff structures, to ensure decisions are free of discrimination.

Actions we take to ensure this commitment is met include:

- Monitoring recruitment and retention;
- Reporting and monitoring any bullying and harassment of staff;
- Continued professional development opportunities for all staff;
- Senior Leadership Team support to ensure equality of opportunity for all.

4. EQUALITY AND THE LAW

The Equality Act (2010) has replaced all previous existing regulations, including race, disability and gender. The Equality Act (2010) is a single, consolidation source of discrimination law, covering all the types of discrimination that are unlawful. Protected characteristics covered by the Equality Act (2010) include:

- sex;
- race;
- disability;
- religion or belief;
- sexual orientation; gender reassignment; and pregnancy or maternity.

It is also unlawful to discriminate because of the sex, race, disability, religion or belief, sexual orientation or gender reassignment of another person with whom the pupil is associated.

The Act makes it unlawful for the responsible body of a school to discriminate against, harass or victimise a pupil or potential pupil:

- in relation to admissions;
- in the way it provides education for pupils;
- in the way it provides pupils access to any benefit, facility or service; or by excluding a pupil or subjecting them to any other detriment.

The action plan at the end of this Equality Plan outlines the actions of Rush Green Primary School will take to meet the duties in the Equality Act in respect of the following protected characteristics:

- Sex;
- race;
- disability;
- religion or belief;
- sexual orientation; gender reassignment; or pregnancy or maternity.

5. CONSULTATION AND INVOLVEMENT

It is a requirement that the development of this plan and the actions within it have been informed by the input of staff, pupils and parents and carers. We have achieved this by using the following to shape the plan;

- Feedback from the annual parent questionnaire, parents' evening, parent-school forum meetings or governors' parent-consultation meeting;
- Input from staff surveys or through staff meetings/INSET;
- Feedback from the school council, curriculum audits, whole school surveys on children's attitudes to self and school;
- Issues raised in annual reviews or reviews of progress ; and
- Feedback at Governing body meetings.

6. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The role of governors

- The governing body has set out its commitment to equal opportunities in this plan and it will continue to do all it can to ensure that the school is fully inclusive to pupils and responsive to their needs.
- The governing body seeks to ensure that people are not discriminated against when applying for jobs at our school on grounds of sex, race, religion or belief, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, pregnancy or maternity.
- The governors take all reasonable steps to ensure that the school environment gives access to people with disabilities, and also strive to make school communications as inclusive as possible for parents, carers and pupils.
- The governors welcome all applications to join the school, whatever a child's socio-economic background, race, gender or disability.
- The governing body ensures that no child is discriminated against whilst in our school on account of their race, sex, disability, religion or belief, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, pregnancy or maternity.

- The governing body will take all reasonable steps to ensure that there is no unlawful behaviour in respect of equality. Unlawful behaviour includes direct discrimination, indirect discrimination, harassment and victimisation.
- The governors will, in accordance with the Equality Act (2010) ensure that such reasonable adjustments as are necessary are made for pupils, staff and parents who have a disability.

The role of the Headteacher (or senior leader responsible for Equalities)

- It is the Headteacher's role to implement the school's Equality Plan and she/he is supported by the governing body in doing so.
- It is the Headteacher's role to ensure that all members of staff are aware of the Equality Plan, and that these guidelines are applied fairly in all situations.
- The Headteacher ensures that all appointments panels give due regard to this plan, so that no-one is discriminated against when it comes to employment or training opportunities.
- The Headteacher promotes the principle of equal opportunity when developing the curriculum, and promotes respect for other people and equal opportunities to participate in all aspects of school life.
- The Headteacher treats all incidents of unfair treatment and any incidents of bullying or discrimination, including racist incidents, with due seriousness.

The role of all staff: teaching and non-teaching

- All staff will ensure that all pupils are treated fairly, equally and with respect, and will maintain awareness of the school's Equality Plan.
- All staff will strive to provide material that gives positive images and challenges stereotypical images.
- All staff will challenge any incidents of prejudice, harassment or victimisation and record any serious incidents, drawing them to the attention of the Headteacher.
- Teachers support the work of ancillary or support staff and encourage them to intervene in a positive way against any discriminatory incidents.

7. TACKLING DISCRIMINATION

Harassment and victimisation are unacceptable and are not tolerated within the school environment.

All staff is expected to deal with any discriminatory incidents that may occur. They are expected to know how to identify and challenge prejudice and stereotyping; and to support the full range of diverse needs according to a pupil's individual circumstances.

All incidents of harassment or bullying are dealt with by the member of staff present, escalating to a class teacher/Headteacher where necessary. All incidents are reported to the Headteacher and racist incidents are reported to the governing body and local authority on a termly basis.

What is discriminatory incident

Direct discrimination occurs when one person treats another less favourably, because of a protected characteristic, than they treat – or would treat – other people. This describes the most clear cut and obvious examples of discrimination – for example if a school were to refuse to let a pupil be a prefect because she is a lesbian.

Indirect discrimination occurs when a “provision, criterion or practice” is applied generally but has the effect of putting people with a particular characteristic at a disadvantage when compared to people without that characteristic. An example might be holding a parents’ meeting on a Friday evening, which could make it difficult for observant Jewish parents to attend. It is a defence against a claim of indirect discrimination if it can be shown to be “a proportionate means of achieving a legitimate aim”. This means both that the reason for the rule of practice is legitimate, and that it could not reasonably be achieved in a different way which did not discriminate.

Harassment has a specific definition in the Act is “unwanted conduct, related to a relevant protected characteristic, which has the purpose or effect of violating a person’s dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that person”. This covers unpleasant and bullying behaviour, but potentially extends also to actions which, whether intentionally or unintentionally, cause offence to a person because of a protected characteristic.

Where schools are concerned, the offence of harassment as defined in this way in the Act applies only to harassment because of disability, race, sex or pregnancy and maternity and not to religion or belief, sexual orientation or gender reassignment. It is very important to recognise that this does not mean that schools are free to bully or harass pupils on these other grounds – to do so would still be unlawful as well unacceptable. Any case against the school would be on grounds of direct discrimination rather than harassment.

Thus, if a teacher belittles a pupil and holds him/her up to ridicule in class because of a disability he/she has, this could lead to a court case alleging unlawful harassment. The same unacceptable treatment directed at a lesbian pupil, or based on a pupil’s religion, could lead to a case claiming direct discrimination. The practical consequences for the school, and the penalties, would be no different.

Victimisation occurs when a person is treated less favourably than they otherwise would have been because of something they have done (“a protected act”) in connection with the Act. A protected act might involve, for example, making an allegation of discrimination or bringing a case under the Act, or supporting another person’s complaint by giving evidence or information, but it includes anything that is done under or in connection with the Act. Even if what a person did or said was incorrect or misconceived, for example based on a misunderstanding of the situation or of what the law provides, they are protected against retaliation unless they were acting in bad faith. The reason for this is to ensure that people are not afraid to raise genuine concerns about discrimination because of fear of retaliation.

As well as it being unlawful to victimise a person who does a protected act, a child must not be victimised because of something done by their parent or a sibling in relation to the Act. This means that a child must not be made to suffer in any way because, for example, his/her mother has made a complaint of sex discrimination against the school, or his/her brother has claimed that a teacher is bullying him because he/she is gay, whether or not the mother or brother was acting in good faith.

If a pupil has himself or herself done a protected act – such as making a complaint of discrimination against a teacher – then the child’s own good faith will be relevant. For example, if the parent’s complaint is based on information from her son and the son was deliberately lying, it is not victimisation for the school to punish him in the same way as it might do any other dishonest pupil. Unless it can be clear that the mother was also acting in bad faith (for example that she knew her son was lying) it would still be unlawful to victimise her for pursuing the complaint.

Harassment can take many forms including verbal or physical abuse, name calling, exclusion from groups and games, unwanted looks or comments, jokes and graffiti.

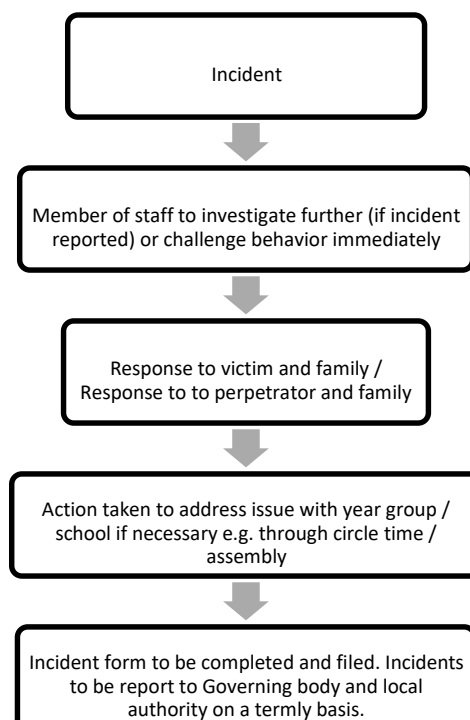

A racist incident is defined by the Stephen Lawrence Inquiry Report (1999) as:

“Any incident which is perceived to be racist by the victim or any other person”.

Responding to and reporting incidents

It should be clear to pupils and staff how they report incidents. All staff, teaching and non-teaching, should view dealing with incidents as vital to the well-being of the whole school.

A suggested procedure for responding and reporting is outlined below:

8. REVIEW OF PROGRESS AND IMPACT

The Plan has been agreed by our Governing Body. We have a rolling programme for reviewing our school policies and their impact. In line with legislative requirements, we will review progress against our Equality Plan annually and review the entire plan and accompanying action plan on a three year cycle.

We make regular assessments of pupils' learning and use this information to track pupil progress. As part of this process, we regularly monitor achievement by ethnicity, gender and disability, to ensure that all groups of pupils are making the best possible progress, and take appropriate action to address any gaps.

9. PUBLISHING THE PLAN

In order to meet the statutory requirements to publish a Single Equality Scheme and we will:

- Publish our plan on the school website;
- Raise awareness of the plan through the school newsletter, assemblies, staff meetings and other communications;
- Make sure hard copies are available.

Signed: S Abeledo. Date: September 2023 Next review: September 2026
